Public invited to review draft Procedure Bylaw

Want to learn what a Procedure Bylaw is? Attend an upcoming information session

Summary

The City of Nanaimo has completed a draft of a new Council Procedure Bylaw. Residents interested in learning about the proposed bylaw are invited to an information session on Tuesday, August 28 from 4:30 pm to 7:30 pm in the Beban Park Social Centre.

This information session will provide an opportunity for members of the public to provide input on areas of the bylaw that can be edited and will aim to explain why some portions are required under the Community Charter, or any other legislation. Copies of the proposed bylaw will be presented at the session for information and feedback.

Key Points

- This session is an opportunity for the public to learn more about the Procedure Bylaw, to understand how it works and why we have it.
- The session will be held August 28 from 4:30-7:30 pm in the Beban Park Social Centre, 2300 Bowen Road.

Quotes

"The current bylaw was adopted in 2007 and has had three amendments made using recommendations from a governance review conducted in 2013. We decided a good approach to incorporating identified areas of improvements and further recommendations from the governance review would be to completely rewrite the bylaw."
